Smolensky Wedding Register Records Jewish History

Perhaps the most significant document acquisition by the JHSSA in recent years is the original marriage registry of Rabbi Simon Smolensky, who served the House of Jacob in Calgary from 1917 to 1935.

As the only Rabbi of the city's only synagogue, Rabbi Smolensky performed virtually every local Jewish wedding during his tenure.

The document, the "Province of Alberta Register of Baptisms, Marriages, Deaths, and Funerals, House of Jacob Congregation," was donated to the Society by the Rabbi's grand-daughter, Minnie Gordon Segal.

Because of its scope and relevance to so many Canadian Jews, we are pleased to reprint the major details of all those weddings in the register. (Spellings in the register are as written by the Rabbi. Names of witnesses have been deleted.)

Regrettably, there is a major lapse in the register; no weddings were recorded between July, 1923, and March, 1927, and the 1927 data may be incomplete. There were certainly Jewish weddings in this interim, and we can only assume they were recorded in a separate place. Hopefully, this material can be recovered.

The first two weddings in the register were conducted by Rabbi J. Klegman. Rabbi Smolensky's first Calgary wedding was the Joseph Joffe - Ruth Malkin nuptuals on August 2, 1917.

Most wedding ceremonies were held in the House of Jacob synagogue, where the chupah was placed on the reader's bimah in the centre of the sanctuary. Receptions generally followed in a private home.

Many weddings also took place in local homes, which were generally quite small by modern standards. There were no kosher catering facilities; families prepared and served wedding banquets themselves.

Several ceremonies after 1929 were conducted by Rabbi Smolensky in his own home, at 409 - First Street S.E. Larger weddings required larger premises. The first "big" wedding was at Hickman's Hall, above 334 - 8th Avenue West, late in 1917, It involved the families of Eva Smith and Abraham Busheikin.

A special event was the Hyman Cohen - Mary Goldenberg wedding of 1923, which took place on the stage of the Isis Palace theatre, on First St. West. near 12th Avenue...

Later wedding sites included the Elks Hall, 7th Avenue and First St. S.E., and, after 1929, the I.L. Peretz school's new building at Centre St. and 13th Avenue South

The first recorded ceremony at the then-incomplete House of Israel Building (18th Avenue & Centre Street S.) was the Dinah Singer - Jack Aceman wedding of August 19, 1934.

The first Jewish hotel wedding in the register was located at the Palliser Hotel, where, on January 6, 1929, Fanny Malkin and Herman Nagler were married.

Our archives contain many wedding photos from the Rabbi Smolensky era. Many show elaborate wedding gowns, tuxedos, and floral arrangements, which seem to contradict the actual financial status of the newlyweds.

In fact, the flowers were often artificial, and were supplied by the photographer. Bridal and attendant gowns were often passed from sister to sister, from friend to friend, from cousin to cousin. Every Jewish home had dressmaking skills, and a wedding gown could easily be altered to fit a new bride.

Rabbi Smolensky's register also provides many clues to Calgary's Jewish geography, since it gave the wedding locations as well as the addresses of many of the witnesses.

Early Jews were concentrated in "east Calgary," an area north and east of City Hall, and centred by the synagogue, at 323 - 5th Avenue S.E. Some Jews lived south of the CPR tracks, in Victoria Park; a few lived west of downtown, and others moved north of the river into Riverside and Crescent Heights.

By the 1930's Jews were able to move into the prestigious Scarborough, Elbow Park, and Mount Royal areas. Sarah Jaffe and Robert James Shapiro were married in 1934 at 3614 - 7-A Street S.W., in Elbow Park.

Banff was a popular honeymoon site among those newlyweds who could afford such a luxury. Couples travelled west by train until the late 20's, when a continues on page 2...

Jewish History Scholars to Meet in Calgary

The Canadian Jewish Historical Society is sharing its annual general conference with the Calgary Jewish community.

Part of the annual Learned Societies Conference, held this year at the University of Calgary, the CJHS meeting will bring together Jewish history scholars from across Canada on June 12 and 13.

Highlight of the conference for Calgarians will be a community program, featuring Gerald Tulchinsky, the author of Taking Root: Origins of the Canadian Jewish Community.

Dr. Tulchinsky, Professor of History at Queen's University, will speak on "A Midrash on Modern Canadian Jewish History."

Taking Root has been hailed by one reviewer as "without question, the definitive history of Canadian Jewry."

An idea of the book's scope may be derived from part of a review by Harold Troper in a recent issue of Canadian Jewish Studies, the Journal of the CJHS.

"Grounded in painstaking research and reflecting an obvious command of the historian's craft, Tulchinsky explores the formative stages of Canadian Jewish experience, organizational life and expression of community identity from earliest beginnings into the post-World War I era.

"Tulchinsky's key argument is straightforward. He asserts that the Canadian Jewish community is unique and that uniqueness stems from the historical encounter Jews have had with the Canadian land, the Canadian civic culture and the Canadian polity."

The community program will be held at 7:30 PM on Sunday, June 12, 1994, at the Calgary Jewish Community Centre. A display of material from the JHSSA archives will be part of the program, which will be attended by many of the conference participants.

Members of the Jewish community are invited to attend the CJCC program, which is also co-sponsored by the Jewish Community Council. The public is also invited to attend the academic sessions at the University.

paved highway was completed. Rabbi Smolensky left the House of Jacob in 1935. He was succeeded by Rabbi David Barenholtz. Only one wedding after 1934 is recorded in our register.

Those who were married by Rabbi Simon Smolensky recall the great dignity he added to the occasion, with his black beard and formal top hat. In an era when the wedding ceremony and the attendant celebrations were the Jewish community's major social events, Rabbi Smolensky provided spiritual continuity and a gracious link with the traditions of the old country.

Simon Smolensky -from Our Archives

Some glimpses of the life of Rabbi Simon Smolensky can be gleaned by looking through his file in the JHSSA archives.

From an English translation of a Russian document:

"June 5, 1902 - By the order of the Czar on February 3, 1876, this jew, Shimon Yankelev Shaev Smelyansky, from Smelyansk Community, Cherkass district, who lives in Srednik Village.

According to family list in 1902 this jew, Smelyansky, was nineteen years of age. According to a personal statement this jew, Smelyansky, is twenty one years of age.

By law Smelyansky has to be drafted by the year 1914."

From a Russian document - Certificate - Conscription into the Army (Everlasting) - Smelyansky, Shimon Yankelev-Shaev, Smelyansk Community, April 15, 1903.

"After reporting to the conscription office in the year 1902, where he drew the number 425, with this number he is required to serve in the army, but for certain reasons he can absolutely not serve in the army. For this reason he is released forever from serving in the army..."

From his passport, issued February 20, 1904, for the purpose of emigration:

"Shimon, son of Jankiel Smielanski, is free to travel to all cities and villages of the Russian Empire until the twentieth of February, 1905."

Our archives has his application for American naturalization, dated July 25, 1911, in Tyler, Texas.

"I emigrated to the United States of America from Hamberg, Germany on the vessel Molthe. I arrived at the port of New York on May 28, 1904."

Excerpts from a Calgary Hebrew School tribute program:

"As a young boy Rabbi Smolensky recalls the hardships he incurred to receive his education. He had to leave his home at the age of 10 to receive his basic knowledge in Talmud and in Jewish law.

When he wanted to go to the highest Yeshiva in Slobotka, Lithuania, he had to become a teacher in a small town in order to earn enough money, because his parents were unable to support him financially.

He taught Hebrew in this small town until he earned enough to go to the higher Yeshiva, where he received his diploma and Rabbinical degree.

In 1904 the Rabbi was offered a high position in Sartoff, Russia, but as a result of the war between Russia and Japan he decided to go to the United States, where he occupied the position of Rabbi in Mobile, Alabama; Shreveport, Louisiana; and Tyler, Texas.

He then came to Calgary in 1917, where he and his family have resided ever since."

On May 26, 1917, the Daily Herald reported, "Rev. S. Smoilensky will lecture in the English language for the first time in this city at the House of Jacob on Sunday evening at 7:30. He will also speak at the morning service."

From the Rabbi's 1922 contract with Congregation House of Jacob:

"The said Smolensky shall endeavor to keep peace in and with the entire Hebrew Community in the City of Calgary, and to assist the Talmud Torah whenever requested so to do by the President of the Congregation.

...the Congregation covenants and agrees to pay to the said Smolensky the sum of Twenty-one Hundred ($2100.00) per annum.

From a meeting notice of B'Nai Brith Calgary Lodge No. 816, October 2, 1931:

"...the executive of the lodge has arranged an intellectual treat, which will undoubtedly appeal to all of the members. 'Selections from the Talmudic Agadah' is the title of the subject and it will be delivered to us in English by Rabbi Smolensky."

From notes of a conversation between this writer and a local historian:

"Rabbi Smolensky left the shul in 1935 so he could devote full time to his family and his business interests. He and the boys ran Riverside Hardware and Alberta Furniture. He was a man of property.

He filled in doing weddings, funerals, and brisses whenever he was needed. Sometimes he went out of town to do weddings. He may not have been that happy with the old shul. I think he and some friends tried to start their own synagogue."

The Archives material on Rabbi Smolensky also contains an Alberta Certificate of Incorporation for "Shaarei Zedek of Calgary", dated December 12, 1939. No members are named on the document.

The JHSSA has a photo of the Smolensky family, dated 1939 that shows the Rabbi and Jennie Smolensky surrounded by five grown children, four sons and daughters-in-law, and ten grandchildren.

Their sons and daughters were Lena Hanen, Ben Smolensky, Jack Smolensky, David Smolensky, and Esther Gordon. All Rabbi Smolensky's children were married by their father.

Jennie Smolensky passed away in 1957, at 74. Simon Smolensky died in Calgary on September 5, 1964, at 82 years of age.

Malkin-Nagler Wedding Makes News

The newspaper description of Calgary first Jewish wedding to be held in a major hotel was full of flowery prose and gross exaggerations. The attention was also a source of some embarrassment to the bride and groom.

Fanny Malkin and Herman Nagler were married at the Palliser Hotel on Sunday, January 6, 1929. A reporter for the "Albertan" was present and wrote a long article about the ceremony.

This was the first time a Jewish wedding had been given "high society" status in a major Calgary newspaper.
The writer, Eva Reid, was not Jewish.
Part of her account follows.

The headline: Old Hebrew Ceremonies Used at Jewish Wedding

Nagler-Malkin Marriage; Held in Hotel Palliser, Is Brilliant Affair; Ceremony is Reminiscent of Days of Solomon and David

"A ceremony which in its entirety dates back to the third century and in portions is reminiscent of the times of Solomon and David, was performed Sunday evening in the ball room of the Palliser Hotel, when Fanny Malkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Malkin, was united in marriage to Herman Nagler, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Nagler, in the quaint and time-honored custom of the Jewish people.

Rev. S. Smolensky, the venerable Rabbi, performed the ceremony, which in its brilliance and local interest has not had its equal before among the Jews of Calgary."

The bride is described: "Very pretty and charming, Miss Malkin has been a popular member of the Jewish younger set here all during her Public and Normal school days. She has been a teacher on the staff of the Sunalta cottage school for some time."

The major exaggeration dealt with the number of guests present.

"Approximately 500 guests, many of whom were from out of town, crowded the ball room long before the ceremonies began." The couple later confirmed the number as closer to 300.

The Bride: Fanny Malkin

Liberties were also taken with the spelling of Jewish surnames . "Dressed as a small page, Joey Bushaikin carried the ring, while Emily Liberman of Edmonton was a sweet little flower girl as she scattered rose petals in the wake of the bride."

The reporter's interpretation of the glassbreaking by the groom to conclude the ceremony is extremely interesting.

"The drinking of the wine was followed by the breaking of the glass by the bridegroom. This part of the ceremony has been used since the destruction of the temple, and served to remind those being married of the destruction of their independence in the wedding ceremony."

"Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nagler left later for New York. Upon their return they will reside in Calgary." The couple's son, Melvin Nagler, says his parents honeymooned in Banff, and registered under an assumed name.

The newlyweds were embarrassed by the many inaccuracies of the article, as well as the general tenor that the affair was an exotic but snobbish high-society event. In addition, the bride refused to accept the wedding photographs, claiming they were not well done.

The affair was completely kosher, as Mrs. Malkin was allowed to prepare and bring turkeys for the wedding feast. Both families were Calgary pioneers and prominent merchants. Nagler's Department Store was a major retail supplier, and the Malkins ran one of the city's busiest grocery stores. They sold the site, on 8th Avenue near 2nd Street East to make way for Calgary's first Safeway store, in 1929.

Shamas S.Z. Shector -Witness to History

Shlomo Zalman Shector is listed as an official witness at nearly half the weddings in the Rabbi Smolensky marriage registry.

Few Calgary Jews, however, knew him by his given names. As a synagogue official, he was always addressed as Mister Shector.

Shlomo Shector was the Shamas - Sexton - for the House of Jacob Congregation from 1923 until well into the 1950's. As Shamas, he assisted the Rabbi with many ritual tasks, acted as caretaker for the building, and served as day-to-day administrator of the shul.

He auctioned Aliyas - Torah honorsbefore services, hushed the noise of children playing outside, laid out the Shabbos morning kiddush table of pumpernickel, pickled herring, and whiskey, and collected dues, walking up and down Eighth Avenue East, personally greeting his congregants and their clients.

Mister Shector was born in Rezena, Russia, in 1880. He came to Canada with his parents as a young man in 1901, homesteading with them at the Jewish farm colony of Hirsch, Saskatchewan. There, in 1906, he married Sarah Kligman.

The couple moved to Calgary, where Shector opened a Kosher butcher shop. In 1923, he became Shamas of the city's synagogue. He assisted Rabbi Smolensky, and stayed on to serve with Rabbi David Barenholtz.

Sarah and Shlomo Shector raised seven children in Calgary, first at 410 -5th Avenue East, a stone's throw from the shul, and later at 624 - 8th Avenue East, Shlomo Shector died in 1961.

One daughter, Goldie Moskovich, still lives in Calgary. She fondly recalls her home, crowded but clean and glatt-kosher, her busy life in an observant community, and most notably her father, Mister Shector, in his suit and hat, the Shamas, going out every morning to look after the business of keeping Calgary Jewish.
