SCOPE AND CONTENT:

The I.L. Peretz School was Calgary's first Jewish day school, with Yiddish language and Judaic subjects (not including Hebrew or religious studies) supplementing the provincial elementary school curriculum. The school founders included Abe and Eva Busheikin, Edythe Rosen (later Pearlman), Leo Paperny, Mr & Mrs A. Lavin, Mr & Mrs Kredentser, Charlie Switzer and several branches of the Pearlman family, who remained involved with the school through most of its existence. The school initially offered instruction from kindergarten, then an innovation, through grade 2, and from the beginning (1927), school programs were supported by a very active Mooter Farein, or mother's club. By 1929, when the school was incorporated, enrollment had grown to 80 students and the Peretz School moved to its own building, referred to as both the school and the Institute, on Centre Street and 13th Avenue S. Some I.L. Peretz School correspondence continued to use I.L. Peretz Institute stationery as late as the autumn of 1960.

By 1956 the Peretz School had expanded to include grade 6, and had outgrown its space. Rather than merge with the Calgary Hebrew School, a possibility which had been raised occasionally since its inception, a capital campaign was undertaken to provide for the construction of a new building on 36th Ave SW, in the district of Altadore. The curriculum was widened to include Hebrew and religious education, and in 1976 the school became an "alternative school" within the Calgary Public School system. This affiliation ended in 1984, and the I.L.Peretz School became a private school associated with the Calgary Separate School Board. During this time, faced with declining enrollment, discussion began concerning the possibility of combining Calgary's two oldest Jewish schools under one umbrella. In 1987, the merger of the I.L. Peretz School and the Charles Waterman Talmud Torah (Calgary Hebrew School) created the Calgary Jewish Academy.

The series consists of correspondence, lists of staff and students, minutes (kept by the Mooter Farein); financial records, event programs and publicity, curriculum material, newsletters and commemorative items.

The series has been arranged into the following sub-series: Governance; Mooter Farein; Minutes; Correspondence; Building; People; School Events; Published Material
